HANDSOME.—We are glad to know that the friends of St. Peter's church responded so generously to the appeals made to them in behalf of an Easter offering. We learn from Mr. Rice that the amount collected (in the plate), on Sunday, was nearly $500. Contributions from the Ladies' Sewing Society and others added about $100 more, and the Sunday School scholars contributed enough to make the sum total well nigh $700. This will be applied to the liquidation of the church debt—the principal of which has been very materially reduced within the past few months. Things seem to be moving on quite prosperously tho' the times be a trifle hard.

THE SCHOOL TAX "YES."

The election called by the Board of School Trustees for Carson district to determine the question of a special tax for enlarging the School building was held yesterday. There were 178 votes polled, of these 150 were for the tax and two new school houses; 26 were for the tax and an addition to the old building; and 2 were against the tax. This, we suppose, is final. We think the voters decided wisely. Now let's have the new buildings erected forthwith and in good substantial fashion.

FIRE.—Our citizens were startled by a cry of fire on Sunday morning about 9 o'clock. The alarm was caused by the breaking out of a fire in Mr. Wm. Pearson's Soda factory, corner of Carson and Fifth Street. The building is a total wreck. The machinery was but little damaged, a defective stove pipe was the cause. The Warrens and Swifts were on hand and prevented the fire from spreading.

A RAIN.—Last evening about sundown there came on a light rain resembling a Scotch mist. Later this turned into a gentle rain, and the prospect seemed good for a capital drenching. Hope we may get it.

TELEGRAPHIC.

Washington, April 2.—The Secretary of War declines to state when the order will be issued for the withdrawal of the troops from the Statehouse at Columbia, South Carolina, but it is generally believed that it will be delayed until Hampton reaches home on Wednesday next.

Chicago, April 2.—A Tribune Washington special says: It is stated on good authority that papers in a quo warrant proceeding in the interest of Tilden are prepared, and will be filed in the United States District Court here as soon as the troops are withdrawn from South Carolina.

Washington, April 2.—At the Cabinet meeting this morning the Secretary of War directed to prepare an order transferring the troops from the Statehouse in Columbia, South Carolina, to their camp.

New York, April 2.—A Danville, Va., special says: Last night, as a heavy freight train was approaching a bridge over a creek in Halifax county, on the Richmond and Danville Railroad an infuriated bull jumped upon the track. The engineer discovered the animal, put on brakes and blew the whistle. The bull stood firm. The cowcatcher mounted the bull just as it was entering the bridge, throwing the engine off the track and precipitating it with great force upon the trestlework which in an instant gave way, and the engine, tender and six freight cars went through with a terrific crash. By a miracle the fireman escaped with some very severe injuries but the engineer, named Kidwell, was nearly crushed to death, though he still survives. A brakeman who was on the roof of the front car also miraculously escaped by running back and stepping from the rear of the back car as it toppled over into the abyss. In a moment after the crash the boiler of the engine exploded and the bridge and cars caught fire. The engineer was rescued by the train hands before the flames reached him, but he is certain to die. The bridge, which was over 120 feet long, was totally consumed.

The bridge was of solid timber, 120 feet long, 12 feet wide, and 12 feet high.

We understand that the levy of the municipal tax will probably be so made as that the taxpayers of Carson will be assessed just as they were last year with the addition of the aforesaid 20 cents for special school purposes.

ABOUT FIRE INSURANCE.—Mr. John D. Kersey has placed in our hands a copy of a circular issued by the Firemen's Fund Insurance Company in which appear the names of no less than twenty companies that are reported as having retired from business since the close of last year. This is cited as an evidence of the necessity for those seeking insurance to deal with none but well-established companies whose reputation is first-class and whose methods of business are approved by the more judicious. The Firemen's Fund is of this substantial class. There is no excuse for taking policies with doubtful concerns when it is within the insurers reach to deal with an institution like this.

DIVORCE GRANTED.—On Saturday, in the District Court for Ormsby county a decree of divorce was granted in the case of Laura S. McKenna vs. Patrick A. McKenna. The complainant is permitted to resume her maiden name, which is Laura S. Abraham. McKenna, who has become known to the Courts and Court reporters, being released from jail on his own recognizance, has left the State. It is understood that he must keep away and cease to molest his former wife and her father or be held liable to such prosecution and punishment as are in store for such an obnoxious fellow as he has shown himself to be.

WASHINGTON.—From Mr. Beam Pixley Washington special says: Chamberlain has prepared another letter, which he has sent to the President, but which he withdrew from publication for the present. The letter covers fourteen pages of legal-cap and contains an elaborate review of the South Carolina situation. It also contains a prophecy as to the President's Southern policy. The letter is said to be a remarkably able document, and to be in parts both pathetic and severe.

THE SUIT AGAINST THE BONANZA.—The testimony in the case of Sinc. Barnes et al. vs. the California Mining Company was concluded yesterday. Of course nobody can tell when the arguments of counsel will be concluded, but it is not unreasonable to suppose that the case will be given to the jury tomorrow night.

The District Court for this County will meet this morning at 10 A. M. The mule case and its pleasant diversions will occupy the attention of the Court.

Stabbed With a Hairbrush.

A man named Joe Burrell, after having surrounded a copious quantity of benzine, yesterday, succeeded in becoming uproariously drunk and disagreeable to every one he came in contact with. Last evening he undertook to run the saloon of Hank Knight, and to pick a quarrel with several parties in the place. Hank stood it as long as possible, putting the man out of the room several times, but before he could get behind the bar again the belligerent drunk was on deck again. Patience ceasing to be a virtue, Hank gave him a gentle tap on the cheek with a hair-brush which he was using, and the man, thinking he had been stabbed, rushed from the room crying bloody murder. He was picked up by some of the boys and declared that he was mortally wounded. They took him to a neighboring saloon, placed him in a chair, procured a huge beefsteak and putting this over his right eye encased his head in a dozen dirty towels saturated with water. Terry McManus was the surgeon in charge, and on our departure was consulting with another professional on the advisability of amputating the ear of the wounded man. The poor fellow thought he was a goner sure, and will be surprised this morning in not finding a scratch on his face.—Eureka Sentinel.

A number of years ago attention was attracted to a theory which insisted that the last effort of vision materialized itself and remained as an object imprinted on the retina of the eye after death. This has been proved a fact by an experiment in the presence of Dr. Gamgee, F. R. S., of Birmingham, England, and Prof. Bunnell, the subject being a living rabbit. The means taken to prove the merits of the question were most simple, the eyes being placed near an opening in a shutter, and retaining the shape of the same after the animal had been deprived of life.
